

Taiwan, together

Seven days, six nights · 5–11 September 2026 · twelve of us

Nine adults, two kids and a toddler — 13, 11 and 3 — and one Taipei base. Mornings out while it's cool: a Sanxing farm and Qingshui geothermal on Monday, glass over a waterfall on Tuesday, lanterns on Wednesday, handmade noodles and the farewell hotpot on Thursday.

THINGS THAT ARE TRUE ALL WEEK

Base	Zhongzheng District — 5 min walk to Shandao Temple MRT, 6 min to Zhongxiao Xinsheng, next to Huashan 1914 Creative Park.
Getting around	A 中巴 on the days twelve people will not fit anything smaller — Day 1 as an airport transfer with two Linkou stops, Day 3 through the Xueshan Tunnel to Yilan, Day 4 to Xiao Wulai and Daxi, Day 5 for Shifen, Golden Waterfall and Jiufen, Day 6 a half-day to...
Weather	Hot and humid, 30–34°C, and the tail of typhoon season. Day 6 doubles as the weather buffer.
Everyone needs	An EasyCard, a folding umbrella (for sun as much as rain), and shoes you can walk all day in.
Book before you fly	Six mid-bus bookings with one Taipei operator if you can — Days 1 and 7 as airport transfers, Day 6 a 4–5 hour half-day, Days 3–5 as full days.

Landing, then a family visit on the way in

Wheels down 06:55. The van goes straight to Linkou for a proper local breakfast and the family visit, then it's a long free & easy afternoon shopping in Zhongshan before the night market.

LANDS 06:55 at Taoyuan MEALS Breakfast in Linkou · lunch in Zhongshan, wherever · night market dinner
COST PP ≈ NT$400 + your own lunch + NT$500–700 bus share WALKING Light — all flat BOOK AHEAD Just the van

06:55	Touch down at Taoyuan International Drink water before you do anything else — the cabin has dried everyone out and it is about to get humid.
07:00 1 hr	Immigration, bags, and EasyCards for eleven Buy the EasyCards at the MRT counter in the arrivals hall while everyone's still together.
08:00 25 min	Van to Linkou — breakfast first A short detour off the highway for a proper breakfast before the family visit — luggage stays snug in the van the whole time.
08:30 45 min	Breakfast — Naka Brunch (拿靠早午餐) "拿靠" is Linkou's own old nickname, and this local chain — the Zhongxiao branch, 忠孝一路9號, about five minutes from Minzu Road.	NT$150
09:15 15 min	Short hop to Minzu Road Five easy minutes further into the old town, to Minzu Road, where the family is already waiting.
09:30 1.5 hr	Himalaya Cafe, Minzu Road — the family visit Not a house call but a café — and not an ordinary one: a full Tibetan Buddhist shrine hall with a painted mandala dome, three gilded Buddhas and coffee served in the...
11:00 40 min	Van into Taipei The last leg of the morning — hotel next. Don't be surprised if half the van is asleep within ten minutes.
11:40	Hotel — drop bags Far too early for the rooms to be ready — hand everything to the bell desk and head straight back out. A proper lunch is waiting somewhere in Zhongshan.
12:00 6 hr	Free & easy — Zhongshan shopping No fixed plan — today the whole rest of the afternoon is wide open. The Zhongshan MRT area and Shuangcheng Street are packed with boutiques, bookshops and cafés, a...
18:30	Taxi to Ningxia Night Market Three taxis for the twelve of us, four to a car. Ten to fifteen minutes from Zhongzheng.
19:00 1.5 hr	Dinner — Ningxia Night Market One short street, food and nothing but food — no trinket stalls to wade through.	NT$250
21:00	Back to the hotel An early night tonight. Tomorrow's tea hills are gentle going, but an early start still pays off at the gondola queue.

Book ahead: Mid-bus — Day 1, airport transfer + 2 stops · Naka Brunch, Linkou — table for twelve · Himalaya Cafe, Linkou — the family visit
Day total, per person NT$400

DAY 2 SUN 6 SEP

Up into the tea hills at Maokong

The gondola does all the climbing. Flat shaded paths, tea-leaf cooking, and Raohe night market after dark.

LEAVE HOTEL	09:15	MEALS	Hotel • tea house lunch • Raohe	COST PP	≈ NT$1,050	WALKING	Easy — flat, shaded

BOOK AHEAD Tea house table for twelve

08:00 1 hr	Slow breakfast at the hotel A slower start today, on purpose — let everyone's body clock catch up before the day begins.
09:15 45 min	MRT to Taipei Zoo station Take the Brown Line all the way to the end of the line. The gondola entrance is a well-signposted three-minute walk from Exit 2.	NT$50
10:00 30 min	Ride the gondola up Buy the NT$300 day pass for unlimited rides, so you can hop off at Zhinan Temple for free on the way down.	NT$300
10:30 2 hr	The Camphor Trail and the tea slopes A flat, paved loop through working tea terraces, with Taipei 101 rising out of the basin behind you the whole way.
12:30 1.5 hr	Lunch — a Maokong tea house Mountain Tea House (4.5) serves proper set meals for six with tea-leaf cooked dishes and a 101 view; Maokong Tea House (4.8) keeps it lighter.	NT$350
14:00 1 hr	Sit with a pot of oolong, then drift down No one should be rushed out of a Maokong tea house. Linger over the pot, and when you're ready, ride down.
15:30	MRT back to the hotel	NT$50
16:00 2 hr	Afternoon off Non-negotiable in this heat, especially for the grandparents — shower, air-con, and horizontal for a while.
18:30 2 hr	Dinner — Raohe Street Night Market MRT to Songshan station, exit 5, and the market gate is right there. Start with the pepper buns near the temple end.	NT$300
20:45	Back to the hotel Tomorrow the mid-bus at 08:30 for Yilan. A normal bedtime tonight is enough — a towel for wet feet at Qingshui.

Book ahead: Maokong tea house

Day total, per person NT$1,050

Sanxing farm, then Qingshui geothermal

A mid-bus through the tunnel: Zhang Mei Ama's Farm, a Sanxing scallion table, then Qingshui Geothermal Park — cook eggs in the wells, soak your feet. Home around 18:15.

LEAVE HOTEL 08:30 by mid-bus		MEALS Hotel · Sanxing scallion table · geothermal eggs, then nearest at the hotel
COST PP ≈ NT$820 excl. mid-bus		WALKING Light — farm paths, then a valley park	BOOK AHEAD Taipei 中巴, farm DIY, lunch table
07:30 50 min	Breakfast at the hotel A sit-down breakfast — the bus comes to the door. The tunnel is a highway, not a mountain road, but tablets still help anyone who hates enclosed space.
08:30 90 min	Mid-bus: hotel → Sanxing, through the tunnel Same 中巴 type as Day 1 — a 19–20 seater, waiting all day, not Kamalan coaches plus taxis.
10:00 1 hr 45 min	Zhang Mei Ama's Farm — animals and a scallion pancake Book the DIY ticket, about NT$350 — entry, a handful of feed, and one hands-on: scallion pancake, aiyu jelly, taro balls or bamboo rice, whichever they are running.		NT$350
11:50 15 min	Short hop to lunch in Sanxing Ten to fifteen minutes. The pancake was a snack; this is the meal. Qingshui's eggs and corn come later.
12:10 1 hr 15 min	Lunch — a Sanxing scallion table Book a table of twelve at 田妈妈葱蒜美食馆 — 03-989-5179 — a round table of Sanxing scallion and garlic dishes, about NT$2,500–5,000 for ten to twelve, so roughly NT$350 a...		NT$350
13:30 25 min	Mid-bus: Sanxing → Qingshui Geothermal Park Fifteen to twenty minutes west into Datong, plus a few minutes if the last lane is tight. Tell the driver 清水地熱公園，三星路八段501巷150號.
13:55 2 hr	Qingshui Geothermal Park — cook in the wells, soak your feet Free entry. Buy eggs, corn and a bamboo basket at the visitor centre — spend about NT$60 per basket and the hire is free (NT$200 deposit, returned).		NT$120
16:00 90 min	Mid-bus home through the tunnel Further inland than the tunnel mouth, so the ride home is about ninety minutes on a Monday. Leave at 16:00, not 16:45. Wet feet and a highway is fine.
18:15	Back to the hotel Home at a civilised hour, on purpose. Nearest food, lights out by 22:00 — Xiao Wulai starts early.

Book ahead: Mid-bus — Day 3, Taipei ↔ Yilan · Zhang Mei Ama DIY ×12 · Sanxing lunch table ×12 · Qingshui Geothermal Park — no ticket, tell the driver
Day total, per person NT$820

Standing on glass above a waterfall

Xiao Wulai's skywalk juts straight out over the falls. Then a full afternoon graze through Daxi Old Street. Quiet dinner — the farewell hotpot is Thursday.

LEAVE HOTEL	08:00 by mid-bus	MEALS	Hotel · Daxi Hakka lunch · Taipei casual	COST PP	≈ NT$350 + bus share
WALKING	Moderate — some steps	BOOK AHEAD	Skywalk slot + 8–10 hr 中巴
07:00 1 hr	Breakfast, and pack the day bag Umbrella, water, and motion sickness tablets — the road up to Fuxing winds through a long series of bends. The bus comes to the hotel at 08:00.
08:00 90 min	Mid-bus: hotel → Xiao Wulai Tell the driver 小烏來天空步道, 桃園市復興區 — not 乌来 in New Taipei. About ninety minutes, freeway then the mountain road. Tablets before you board.
09:30 2 hr	Xiao Wulai Skywalk and waterfall The glass platform cantilevers out over the falls. Anyone uneasy with heights can take the side path and still get the full waterfall view from solid ground.				NT$50
11:30 30 min	Mid-bus down to Daxi Old Street Same bus, same driver. Ask to be dropped on Heping Old Street, right where lunch is waiting.
12:00 1.5 hr	Lunch — Hakka food on Daxi Old Street This is Hakka country, and the local restaurants cook accordingly — salty, savoury, a little fatty, and exactly right after a morning outdoors.				NT$300
13:30 2.5 hr	The rest of the afternoon in Daxi Old Street With the whole afternoon open, there's no reason to rush — and no need to sit down for another full meal after lunch.
16:00 75 min	Mid-bus home to the hotel About seventy-five minutes. Home in time for a quiet dinner; the farewell hotpot waits until Thursday.
17:15 1 hr	Quiet dinner near the hotel Not the farewell hotpot — that is Thursday, after Hsu's. Tonight is whatever is nearest: Huashan, a convenience store, a noodle shop. Lights out by 22:00.
22:00	Back to the hotel Wednesday is the long walk. Lay out EasyCards and walking shoes tonight.

Book ahead: Mid-bus — Day 4, Xiao Wulai + Daxi · Xiao Wulai skywalk slots ×12

Day total, per person NT$350

Sky lanterns, then Jiufen at dusk

The big one. Waterfall in the morning, your lantern rising at golden hour, and Jiufen's red lanterns lighting as you arrive.

LEAVE HOTEL 09:15 by mid-bus MEALS Fu Hang · Shifen · Jiufen teahouse COST PP ≈ NT$970 + bus share

WALKING Moderate — Jiufen steps; waterfall is a drop-off WEATHER RISK High — lanterns need dry

08:00 1 hr	Breakfast — hotel, or Fu Hang Soy Milk Fu Hang sits upstairs in the Huashan Market building by Shandao Temple, just minutes from the hotel.	NT$120
09:15 75 min	Mid-bus: hotel → Shifen Waterfall gate Tell the driver 十分瀑布, the park gate, not the station. About seventy-five minutes. The 25-minute walk from the station is the bit you just bought out of the day.
10:30 1.25 hr	Shifen Waterfall Dropped at the gate. Entry is free and the viewing decks are level throughout. Carry water — September heat still finds you on a boardwalk.
11:45 10 min	Short hop to Shifen Old Street Five to ten minutes. The driver can wait on the street or at the car park while you eat and linger.
12:00 2 hr	Lunch and the railway street Liou Gou's deboned chicken wing, stuffed with fried rice and grilled to a crackle, is the dish everyone comes here for.	NT$200
14:15 1.25 hr	Deliberate slow block — tea, shade, sitting This gap isn't filler — it's the whole point of a slow afternoon. Air-conditioned cafés line the street, and there's plenty for the kids to browse.
14:30 1 hr	Optional — a short hop to Jingtong If anyone's restless, the bus can run fifteen minutes to the end of the valley. A wooden station from 1929 and thousands of bamboo wish tubes.
15:30 1.5 hr	Sky lantern release — golden hour Write your wishes across all four sides with the brush, stand together on the tracks, and let go as one around 16:00–17:00 while the light turns gold.	NT$250
17:00 15 min	Golden Waterfall — two minutes from the road The stop the train plan dropped. Photograph from the roadside, do not wade. Then on to Jiufen while the light is still going gold.
17:20 20 min	Mid-bus up to Jiufen Tell the driver 九份老街. About fifteen to twenty minutes. He can wait at the coach park while you climb.
17:40 2 hr	Jiufen Old Street at dusk You arrive just as the red lanterns are being lit — the one hour this town turns genuinely magical instead of merely crowded. Steep steps everywhere.
18:15 1.5 hr	Tea and dinner — Jiufen teahouse Jiufen Teahouse (4.8) does interactive brewing — they set the pot in front of you and teach you the whole ritual.	NT$400
19:45 75 min	Mid-bus home to the hotel About seventy-five minutes. This is the overtime window — confirm the rate when you book. Everyone sits, bags stay in the hold, no Ruifang transfer.
21:00	Back to the hotel Tired legs, full hearts, and a phone full of photos of a lantern drifting up into the dark. The big day is done.

Handmade noodles, then farewell hotpot

Throw dough in Shiding, eat noodles from a spring-water trough, Ximending in the afternoon — Red House market should be on — then hotpot at 18:30.

LEAVE HOTEL 08:15 by mid-bus MEALS Hotel · Hsu's noodles · hotpot COST PP ≈ NT$950–1,500 + shopping

WALKING Light — workshop, then flat streets BOOK AHEAD Hsu's ×12 + morning mid-bus + hotpot

07:30 45 min	Breakfast at the hotel Eat here. The noodles at 09:30 are lunch, and the mountain road is not the moment for an empty stomach. Motion-sickness tablets before you board.
08:15 1 hr	Mid-bus up to Shiding A winding New Taipei mountain road, about an hour from Zhongzheng. This has to be a 中巴, not a nine-seat van — twelve of you still cannot legally fit in one.
09:30 2 hr	Hsu's handmade noodles — DIY + flowing noodles Book the 09:30 session — handmade-noodle DIY plus 流水麵, about NT$550. You throw the dough, they walk you through the thirteen steps, then noodles come down a bamboo...	NT$550
12:15 50 min	Van drops the group in Ximending Not the hotel. Tell the driver 西門町 / 西門紅樓. Anyone who is actually full can skip the next snack stop; everyone else is two minutes from Ay-Chung.
12:30 45 min	Extra bites if anyone is still hungry Ay-Chung mee sua and Lao Tian Lu braised meats are the two names worth knowing. Standing food, fast queues, no table of twelve required.	NT$80
13:30 2.5 hr	Red House and the pedestrian streets This is the shopping stretch, not a forty-minute pose. The Red House's octagonal hall is full of small designer shops.
16:00 1.5 hr	Longshan and Bopiliao — only if you still want a temple Three MRT stops south on the blue line. A working temple, then the old street next door and Herb Lane for a cooling tea.	NT$20
16:30 1 hr	Back toward the hotel, then Zhongshan MRT from Ximen. Anyone who wants Longshan peels off at 15:00; the rest can keep shopping until 16:30. The farewell table is at 18:30.
18:30 1.5 hr	Farewell dinner — hotpot Wulao Hotpot in Zhongshan is polished and set up for groups; Lujiba Chengdu skewer hotpot (4.9) is the spicier, livelier option. Book for twelve.	NT$600
20:30	Back to the hotel — pack properly tonight Tomorrow morning is Dihua, then the 20:00 flight. Bags closed before you leave.

Book ahead: Hsu's handmade noodles ×12 · Mid-bus — Day 6, Shiding half-day · Farewell hotpot · Nothing to check for the Red House market

Day total, per person NT$950–NT$1,500 — Hsu's session, Ximending snacks and dinner.

Dihua Street, and home

Old Taipei's most handsome street for the last of the gift shopping, a proper farewell lunch, then the 20:00 flight.

CHECK OUT	10:00, store bags	MEALS	Hotel · farewell lunch · airport	COST PP	≈ NT$450 + gifts + bus share
WALKING	Light — flat street	AIRPORT	Leave 14:45 sharp
08:30 1 hr	Last hotel breakfast, finish packing Round up everyone's purchases now — six days of night-market hauls add up fast, and someone's suitcase will not close without a fight.
10:00 30 min	Check out, leave the luggage Clear every room and hand it all to the bell desk. Carry only what the morning needs — you'll swing back for the bags at 14:30.
10:30 15 min	Taxi to Dihua Street Two taxis over to Dadaocheng — ask the driver for the Yongle Market end and stroll north from there.
10:45 2 hr	Dihua Street — gifts and old Taipei Dried goods, tea, nougat, pineapple cakes, and bolts of fabric at Yongle Market.
12:30 1.25 hr	Farewell lunch — Rice & Shine Rated 4.3. Refined Taiwanese cooking in a beautifully restored shophouse — the rice is the star here, alongside braised duck and shrimp rolls. Reserve for twelve.				NT$450
14:00 15 min	Taxi back to the hotel
14:30	Collect luggage, final headcount Count the bags, then count the people. Passports out and double-checked before anyone moves.
14:45 50 min	Mid-bus to Taoyuan Airport The same 20-seat 中巴 as Day 1, booked as a point-to-point send-off — not an hourly day. About fifty minutes door to door.
15:45	Arrive Taoyuan Airport Four hours ahead of an international departure — deliberately generous, clearing the usual three-hour guideline with room to spare for an older group, a...
17:00	Check in, immigration, last bites Check the bags first, then eat. If anyone forgot a gift for someone back home, the airside pineapple cakes are the perfect way to spend the last of the cash.
20:00	Depart Taoyuan Safe travels home, and welcome back with suitcases considerably fuller than they left.

Book ahead: Rice & Shine, Dihua St · Mid-bus — Day 7, hotel to airport

Trip total — food, activities and fares			NT$4,990–NT$5,540	NT$59,880–NT$66,480

COUNTED ABOVE

- Meals as listed in each day's timeline, at rough per-person estimates
- Entry tickets and activities with a stated price — the gondola day pass, Hsu's session, Zhang Mei Ama DIY, Qingshui cooking baskets, Xiao Wulai, the sky lantern
- City hops on EasyCard — the MRT, city buses, and any short taxi seats still written into a day's timeline. Mid-bus hire is not in this table

BUDGET SEPARATELY

- Flights — not part of this cost breakdown
- Hotel — six nights for twelve people, and the single largest line item
- The six mid-bus bookings — Day 1 morning transfer, Day 3 Yilan, Day 4 Xiao Wulai + Daxi, Day 5 Jiufen–Shifen package, Day 6 Shiding half-day, Day 7 airport send-off.
- Shopping — Daxi tofu and woodwork on Day 4, Ximending on Day 6, and the Dihua Street gift run on the last day
- Travel insurance, which matters more than usual in typhoon season
- Taxis within Taipei itself, tips, and the inevitable extra round of drinks

What to prepare

Everything that has to happen before anyone gets on a plane, plus what each person carries once you land.

EVERYONE PACKS

- Passport, and a photo of it on your phone
- An EasyCard — buy eleven at the airport MRT counter on arrival, name written on each
- A folding umbrella, for sun as much as rain, plus a poncho for Jiufen and Shifen
- Shoes you can walk all day in — Jiufen is stairs, Shifen is train tracks
- NT$400–600 each in small notes; many night market stalls are cash only
- Power bank, charging cable, and a Type-A plug (110V, same as home for some)
- Sunscreen, a hat, a refillable water bottle — it is 30–34°C and humid
- Any regular medicine, plus rehydration salts and plasters for the walking days
- Travel insurance that covers weather delays — it is the tail of typhoon season
- Stroller rain cover, if the three-year-old's stroller is coming

IF A TYPHOON IS NAMED

- Keep an eye on the sky. Install the CWA (Central Weather Administration) app and Windy, and check them daily in the week before and during the trip.
- Know the shutdown rule. If the local government declares a typhoon day (停班停課), the MRT may pause and attractions close for the day.
- The mid-bus days cancel as a block. Days 1, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 all have a vehicle booked. A named typhoon means calling the operator once.
- Day 5 and Day 7 are no longer 'nothing prepaid'. The lantern package and the airport send-off both need a cancellation conversation, same as Yilan and Xiao Wulai.

EMERGENCY NUMBERS

- 110 — police. 119 — fire and ambulance.
- 0800-011-765 is the 24-hour tourist information hotline, with English-speaking staff.
- Keep a photo of everyone's passport page on your phone, and note down your own embassy's number before you fly.
- Install the CWA weather app and check it daily during the trip — see the weather page for the full plan.
